

Dinner is served

PAUL MAYNE // WESTERN NEWS

Western's annual student culinary competition, CHOPT, had the knives dicing and sauces sautéing as it wrapped up earlier this week in Sydenham Hall, where Anthony Lasocha, front, Sam Helman and Tariq Keshavji went plate-to-plate in competition. When the pans were washed and the dishes done, the Top Chef title went to Helman, with Lasocha taking the People's Choice Award. Western's Hospitality Services hosted similar events at four other residences earlier this month.

Fellowship in Teaching Innovation Award

Call for 2017 Applications

The purpose of the Fellowship in Teaching Innovation Award is to encourage Western faculty members (full-time and part-time) to pursue teaching innovations at Western University. The Fellowship exists primarily, but not exclusively, to support undergraduate and professional school teaching at the University, matching Western's commitment to the highest standards and quality of undergraduate education.

One award of up to $10,000 is available. Teaching innovation projects may take many forms, such as developing new strategies for student engagement or initiatives involving the novel incorporation of educational technology into classroom settings. The award may be used to develop teaching innovation projects through the purchase of release-time, support for graduate students, acquisition of technology, or to attend teaching conferences.

For more information, contact Dr. Nanda Dimitrov
Acting Director of the Teaching Support Centre
by phone at ext. 84621
or e-mail: nanda.dimitrov@uwo.ca

The deadline for receipt of applications is March 1, 2017.
